

Buddhism in China – Past and Present

Academic Offline Dialogue at Hamburg University

Buddhism in China has gone through a history of two thousand years and is still developing further. It is object of research and further interest of several scholars and students at Hamburg University, especially in the Numata Center for Buddhist Studies.

After a recent growth of online based communication, this initiative brings together those who would like to participate in a direct exchange of information and academic research. As a Research Fellow of the Numata Center for Buddhist Studies with a China focus, I would like to welcome everybody to join an academic offline dialogue twice this term:

Time:

Friday, 3th June, 16.00-17.30: Buddhism in China – Past
Friday, 8th July, 16.00-17.30: Buddhism in China – Present

Location:

Asien-Afrika-Institut, Edmund-Siemers-Allee 1, Flügel Ost, Raum (Room) 123

Please feel free to join this circle and present your field of research interest or just follow the moderated session for discussion about different aspects of Buddhism in China.

For the sake of better organization, in case of interest, please send an e-mail in advance to:

Contact:

Dr. Carsten Krause
Research Fellow at the Numata Center for Buddhist Studies, Hamburg University carsten.krause@uni-hamburg.de